HO'OPONOPONO CLEANING CELL

We are here for Divine Inspiration, Divine solutions to our own problems and Divine Guidance as we clean our shared memories. It is important during the call for us to resist the temptation to give advice, solve problems or jump into someone else's story—that's the Divine's job. Usually, we just clean on ourselves as a person talks and leave it to the Divine to clean what He deems necessary in all of us. We just invite, by asking that our shared memories to be cleaned and using the statements, Divine decides what gets cleaned. Something always gets cleaned, whether we are consciously aware of it or not.

Hawaiian Spirituality

Huna, also known in ancient times as Ho'omana, is an ancient Hawaiian spiritual tradition, which was almost lost when Hawaii was 'invaded' by outside influences.

Modern research has theories that it is incredibly old. How old is still a question for debate.

Legend traces Ho'omana or as it is known today as Huna back to Lemuria. Mu, as it is known in legends, was a continent that stretched across the Pacific Ocean. All that remains of that mythical place are it's largest mountain peaks, known today as Tahiti, Polynesia, New Zealand, Hawaii, and the other Pacific islands. It is said that the peoples of the South Pacific descended from Mu and that Huna was their religious philosophy.

Huna is 'religious' only in the sense that it guides us to attain spiritual perfection. It is not, however, a religion. It is possible to maintain your religious affiliation and practices, and to be a practitioner of Huna, which is a very broad and inclusive, Universal Way.

Huna is scientific as well since it deals directly with the physical world, in the here and now, and the processes and techniques produce predictable, repeatable and transferable results with people and the environment.

These results have been, at times, labeled as magic or occult and yet the unseen forces that produce these effects are very real. Huna is also a way of life, a philosophy, a way of the heart, with a strong and yet simple code of ethics. It encourages the balance emotional and spiritual aspects and sees no conflict with other traditions.

between the physical, mental, of 'being'. Huna is all embracing

There is no one 'right' Huna, and the customs and details of Huna vary from practitioner to practitioner, from Island to Island.

WHO'S IN CHARGE

Problems can be solved without knowing what the heck is going on! Realizing and appreciating this is sheer relief and joy for me. Problem solving, part of the purpose for existence, is what Self I-Dentity through Ho'oponopono is about. To solve problems, two questions must be addressed: Who am I? Who's in charge? To apprehend the nature of the Cosmos begins with the insight of Socrates: "Know thyself."

Who's in charge? Most people, including those in the science community, deal with the world as being a physical entity. Current research in DNA to identify causes and remedies for heart disease, cancer, and diabetes is a prime example of this.
